

THE ART OF SCIENCE

Here is a selection of agar art submitted in the latest IBMS online competition.

Every month, the IBMS runs an online competition, prompting members to pit themselves against the rest of the profession in order to win the best in “I love biomedical science” prizes.

Photos can be submitted via Facebook or Twitter by posting in the competition threads or using the #IBMSCompetition hashtag. Submissions are also accepted via website@ibms.org.

The theme for October’s competition is “spooky science”. Send the IBMS your best pictures and get your friends to like them in our Facebook gallery to scare off the competition.

Please visit our website for more information on monthly competitions for members, including rules, prizes and how to take part. To view past competition entries, visit our Facebook page gallery at facebook.com/biomedicalscience

If you have ideas for future photo competitions, email communications@ibms.org

